The City of Willoughby hired Mark Horton to guide them through the design-build process for development of their new municipal courthouse. The result is an impressive facility that blends well into the architecture of the historic downtown district.

"As we break ground for our new municipal courthouse, I want to take the opportunity to thank Mark Horton and commend him for the remarkable job he has done for us. His help in guiding us through the "virgin territory" of municipal design build has been invaluable. Frankly, I don't know how we would have done it without him. Mark has been a pleasure to work with, and his personal attention to our project is greatly appreciated. I would welcome the opportunity to recommend Mark to any potential clients.
