

WESTON CLOSE-UP

Fritz Awig

HOME: Cleveland's east side

PROFESSION: Vice President of Engineering and Operations, Pressco Technologies

ABOUT HIS BUSINESS: Providing high speed visual inspection equipment for the food, beverage and container markets.

PASSIONS: Woodworking in his basement.

When his daughter was married he made her bed's headboard. On her first anniversary, he gave her matching end tables. When his grandson was born last year, he made his crib, rattles and roly poly toys that make noise.

QUOTE: "Teamwork. I don't have all of the answers and depend heavily on people who work with me to provide suggestions and solutions. When faced with a problem the best way to resolve it is to roll up our sleeves and figure out how we, as a team, can get it done. Everybody provides input and we arrive at a good, solid solution."

WESTON LEASE: 55,000 square feet in Solon.

WHY WESTON: "We are grateful for the unique and open relationship we have enjoyed with Weston over the years, which is only possible because of the fine people that work there."
